The Waterloo Junior High School is an important part of daily life in their school. They sponsor many activities such as dances, Ice Cream Socials, and selling Spirit Wear and Smencils. Their council also holds many fundraisers and community projects, including the Giving Tree for Christmas and sponsoring Red Ribbon Week.

The South Fork Junior High School Student Council has several goals. Their main goal, however, is to bring spirit and fun to their school. The Waterloo Junior High School Student Council wants to represent our school in a positive manner and make sure that all kids are enjoying school.

The Student Council at Waterloo Junior High School feels that there are many benefits of membership in the IAJHSC. The IAJHSC Advisor's Workshop allows advisors time to collaborate with others, as well as plan fun activities for our councils. Leadership workshops give members of their council opportunities to make connections with other students and learn about positive leadership. The IAJHSC State Convention is another great benefit of membership. It allows their Student Council to celebrate our successes for the year and gain ideas about new activities that they could bring to our school for the following year. Lastly, the IAJHSC Summer Leadership Camp provides an opportunity for their Student Council's Executive Board to be trained on how to provide positive leadership for the upcoming year.
